I am Andrea Hartmann-Piraudeau, the founder and director of the IM Campus and an internationally certified mediator and conflict expert with a broad international network and many years of experience in mediation and ADR.

It is a personal concern of mine that the learning and teaching at the IM Campus is of a very high standard and illuminates scientific aspects and new findings as well as providing space for practical learning and practice. Especially the intercultural experience that IM Campus offers through the diversity of groups and teachers opens new perspectives and strategies in mediation, communication and negotiation.

At IM Campus, our courses are part of the CONSENSUS Campus Program, which is recognised as meeting the quality criteria set out by the International Mediation Institute (IMI) and has been granted dispensation by the IMI to deliver its existing approved mediation training online.
